1. WaterOne is required to maintain a residual maximum of 1.5 ppm throughout its distribution system by the Kansas Dept. of Health & Environment as a means to provide some protection of parts per million against microbiological contamination. Maximum residual compliance is based on a monthly average. WaterOne's highest value, 5.3 ppm, was a one-time maximum reading.
2. Data from 2012 annual monitoring. Though not required by a federal regulatory authority as a result of low levels of lead and copper. The value is the 90th percentile result. The 90th percentile value for lead is 0 ppb; the 90th percentile value for copper is 0.017 ppm.
3. The monthly TOC removal ratio is calculated on the ratio between the actual TOC removal and the TOC site removal requirements.
   This ratio is performed monthly as a requirement for 2012. Compliance is based on 95% of monthly turbidity readings less than 0.3 NTU. The removal turbidity was less than 0.1 NTU. Turbidity is measured as an indicator of the effectiveness of the water treatment process. The lower the turbidity, the more effective the treatment process.
4. EPA considers 50 pCi/L to be the level of concern for beta particles.

Hello World

91. It is estimated that there are 10 billion trillion stars in the known universe. Express the number of stars in scientific notation. (1 billion = 10^9, 1 trillion = 10^{12})

92. Excluding the sun, the closest star to Earth is Proxima Centauri, which is 4.3 light years away. One light year = 5.88×10^{12} miles. How far in miles is Proxima Centauri from Earth? Express the answer in scientific notation.

93. The mass of Earth is about 5×10^{24} metric tons. The mass of the sun is about 1.998×10^{30} metric tons. About how many times the mass of Earth is the mass of the sun? Express the answer in scientific notation.

94. The wavelength of light is given by the velocity divided by the frequency. The velocity of red light is 299,999,999 m/sec, and its frequency is 400,000,000,000,000 cycles per second. What is the wavelength of red light? Express the answer in [illegible]

Use the following information for Exercises 95 and 96.

95. Suppose that it takes about [illegible] for a vehicle to travel from Earth to the moon. About how long would it take the same space vehicle traveling at the same speed to reach Mars? Express the answer in scientific notation.

96. Suppose that it takes about [illegible] for a space vehicle to travel from Earth to the moon. About how long would it take the same space vehicle traveling at the same speed to reach Pluto? Express the answer in scientific notation.

97. Explain in your own words when exponents should be added and when they should be multiplied.

98. Without performing actual computations, explain why 5^{-30} is smaller than 2^{-30}.

Tony Perkins Family Research Council

Sexual dysfunction, aggression, exploitation, and even the broader evils of prostitution and human trafficking have their roots in the filth of xHamster, a pornographic web site and others. "Scholars can say with confidence that porn is an industrial product that shapes how we think about gender, sexuality, relationships, intimacy, sexual violence, and gender equality." Dines points out, "for the worse." Believe it or not, porn sites get "more visitors each month than Netflix, Amazon, and Twitter combined." Some of the more startling results of that consumption are in the new studies of college men: "Researchers found that 83 percent reported seeing mainstream pornography, and that those who did were more likely to say they would commit rape or sexual assault if they knew they wouldn't get caught.' It's the number one cause of child sex trafficking in America.

And if you think the church is immune, think again. According to a startling new survey from Barna Group and Josh McDowell, 64 percent of Christian men say they've viewed pornography at least once this month. In the pulpit, the struggle is just as real. 57 percent of pastors and 64 percent of youth pastors admit they've used porn, ' either currently or in the past."

"Probably one of the biggest [groups] suffering today as victims are the wives of the men addicted to pornography sitting right next to them in the pews," Josh told me last week on "Washington Watch." (Full interview below.) And although most Americans believe porn is "bad for society," these attitudes are quickly shifting toward neutrality or "good for society" in younger generations. (Believe it or not, a majority of teens think net recycling is more immoral than pornography!) Even more shocking: only one out of 20 young people have a friend who will say pornography is bad.

Nothing erodes a person's faith faster than internet pornography -- and because of the internet, pornography is everywhere. "It's accessible, it's affordable, and it's anonymous," Josh lamented. And its effects? Astounding. "Just as the tobacco industry argued for decades that there was no proof of a connection between smoking and lung cancer, so too has the porn industry, with the help of a well-oiled public relations machine, denied the existence of empirical research on the impact of its products." Nothing could help North Carolina more than flushing out an industry that shatters marriages and families. Of course, it's a sad indictment of our culture that websites like xHamster think they have a viable seat in the business community to begin with. But in the end, the only people affected by the site's exit are the perverted people who would have used Charlotte's ordinance to take advantage of others. If I were a state leader, I'd ask XHamster's competition to join the boycott of North Carolina. Based on the turnout at yesterday's pro-H.B. 2 rally, they won't exactly be missed!

To take advantage of this template's design, use the Styles gallery on the Home tab. You can format your headings by using heading styles, or highlight important text using other styles, like Emphasis and Intense Quote. These styles come in formatted to look great and work together to help communicate your ideas.

Go ahead and get started.

Video provides a powerful way to help you prove your point. When you click Online Video, you can paste in the embed code for the video you want to add. You can also type a keyword to search online for the video that best fits your document. To make your document look professionally produced, Word provides header, footer, cover page, and text box designs that complement each other. For example, you can add a matching cover page, header, and sidebar. Click Insert and then choose the elements you want from the different galleries. Themes and styles also help keep your document coordinated. When you click Design and choose a new Theme, the pictures, charts, and SmartArt graphics change to match your new theme.

When you apply styles, your headings change to match the new theme. Save time in Word with new buttons that show up where you need them. To change the way a picture fits in your document, click it and a button for layout options appears next to it. When you work on a table, click where you want to add a row or a column, and then click the plus sign. Reading is easier, too, in the new Reading view. You can collapse parts of the document and focus on the text you want. If you need to stop reading before you reach the end, Word remembers where you left off - even on another device. Video provides a powerful way to help you prove your point.

To the right are pages that folks have faxed us recently. Click any thumbnail to see the large version and rate it for interestingness.

You can fax something interesting to 1 888 877 1655 (your boss will never notice ... maybe) or 1 503 200 1300 (long distance to Portland, Oregon) and it should appear here within a couple of minutes. (It's a toll free number if you're in the USA.) Keep it clean & legal.

Fax single-page documents with no cover sheet. If you fax more than one page, only the last page will appear here. We try to snip off the top few pixels of the page where your company name and fax number should appear, but make no promises that this will actually work.

Note

- Put the paper into the manual feed slot with the side to be printed face up.
- Make sure that the print media is straight and in the correct position on the manual feed slot. If it is not, the paper may not be fed properly, resulting in a skewed printout or a paper jam.
- Do not put more than one sheet of paper in the manual feed slot at any one time, as it may cause a jam.
- If you put any print media in the manual feed slot before the machine is in Ready mode, the print media may be ejected without being printed on.

- To easily remove a small printout from the output tray, lift up the scanner cover by using both hands as shown in the illustration.

- You can still use the machine while the scanner cover is up. To close the scanner cover, push it down with both hands.

Writing the Summary

When writing the summary there are three main requirements.

1. The summary should cover the original as a whole.
2. The material should be presented in a neutral fashion
3. The summary should be a condensed version of the material presented in your own words

* * Also do not include anything that does not appear in the original. (Do not include your own comments or evaluation)
and
Be sure to identify your source

For example

In his paper "Global Implications of Patent Law Variation," Koji Suzuki (1991) states that lack of consistency in the world's patent laws is a serious problem. In most of the world patent ownership is given to the inventor that is first to file for a patent However the United States maintains a first to invent policy In view of this patent ownership can change depending on the country Multiple patent ownership can result in economic problems however most striking is the international tension it causes The fact that the United States does not recognize patent ownership in other countries, in violation of the Paris Convention on Industrial Properties, has prompted the World Intellectual Properties Organization (WIPO) to push the United States to review its existing patent law principles.

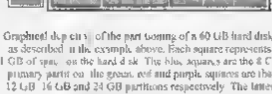
will reduce lost disk space due to slack, and will reduce defragmentation times on partitions containing many relatively-stable data files (more on the issues involved in partitioning DOS systems). Let's say you want to split up this drive as follows:

- One 8 GB primary partition for Windows and other operating system and program files.
- One 12 GB partition for data.
- One 16 GB partition for games.
- The rest of the disk in a 24 GB partition for large multimedia files, short-term backups and future expansion.

I'm assuming no complicating factors here, just a simple example. To do this, you will first set up a primary DOS partition 8 GB in size. This is the first of your four partitions. You will then create an extended DOS partition that is 52 GB in size. This is the second partition on the hard disk. Within the extended DOS partition you will create three logical volumes: one 12 GB, one 16 GB and one 24 GB. These are your second, third and fourth volumes (logical partitions). The first partition will be your C: drive, from which you boot the machine, and DOS will (normally) assign D: E: and F: to the other three logical partitions. Your hard disk will have one primary DOS partition and one extended DOS partition containing three logical DOS volumes.



Graphical depiction of the partitioning of a 60 GB hard disk as described in the example above. Each square represents 1 GB of space on the hard disk. The blue squares are the 8 GB primary partition, the green, red and purple squares are the 12 GB, 16 GB and 24 GB partitions respectively. The latter three partitions are logical partitions contained within an extended DOS partition, indicated by the large, grey-shaded rectangle.

Number of CK+ CTCs

Number of Other CTCs (CK-)

Results should be correlated and interpreted in conjunction with all other pertinent clinicopathological findings. Cancer investigators believe that presence of circulating tumor cells (CTCs) is linked as an indicator of metastasis. Metastasis is a complex multistep process that includes epithelial-mesenchymal transition (EMT), in which tumor cells are characterized by loss of cell adhesion, expression of E-cadherin, expression of mesenchymal markers, increased cell motility, and invasiveness (1) HER2 is recognized as an important predictive and prognostic tumor in breast cancer (2) HER2 status is predictive of a potential response to HER2 targeted agents such as lytoxib and trastuzumab (3)

*CTC is defined as CD45- DAPI+ CK+ or CK- cell

short misplaced values and mis-investment caused a needless crisis whose unhappy shortsighted solution has been to erect more and still more barriers to college opportunities These barriers have taken the form of high-stakes standardized tests, higher thresholds of college eligibility the dismantling of affirmative action and the proposed implementation of high school exit examinations

WHAT FUTURE FOR RACE ECONOMICS AND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY?

In the dawning years of the 21st century race and ethnicity continue to challenge U.S. society The nation still wrestles with questions that ask whether race and ethnicity will be bases for unity or cause for division What is valuable about the California case is the stark relief in which the complex intricacies of the nation s race problems in the new century are placed In that microcosmic scenario, conflict is shown to result from both racial disputes and conflict based on national origin This complexity propels the search for alternative models that can adequately address the roots of related struggles for power and personhood, such as those around gender, social class and sexual orientation (Collins 1998) Ultimately the conflict in California in Mississippi in Michigan across the United States, and across the world in places like Colombia Kashmir and the Congo traces back to socio-political and economic systems that require and thrive on exploitative relationships

The emphasis in this nation on domination-and its companion degradation-has wrought and continues to wreak profound human and societal havoc. The paradigm of White supremacy domination and exclusion has cut across the areas of education health politics criminal justice and the economy (Morris Allen Maumasse & Gilbert 1995) Affirmative action's emphases on inclusiveness and diversity however, have the power to enrich the higher education experience for all involved (Hurtado Milem, Clayton Pedersen & Allen, 1999). Ultimately, exploitative relationships weaken not only these outside the mainstream-or in the shadows-but also those in the society at large The choices are really quite simple Will this nation opt to live up to the inspirational creed of the American Dream by offering freedom opportunity and equality to all, or will it continue to deny these ideals and by so doing lay the foundation for the destruction of yet another great civilization?

HP Device Fax Setup Wizard
Wednesday, December 12, 2012 5:27:19 AM

Your Setup Summary

Based on the information you provided in the Fax Setup Wizard, your HP device will be configured as follows.

Header Information

Name:
Location: United States
Modem: DSL Modem
Fax number: 7606530152

* Your fax phone number (7606530152) is dedicated to receiving only fax calls (no voice calls).

* The answer mode on your HP device is set up to automatically answer calls.

* The Rings-to-answer setting on your HP device is set to automatically answer after 2 ring(s).

* Your HP device will answer all calls (at 7606530152) after 2 ring(s).

* If any of the information above is not correct, click Back to move back to any of the questions you would like to answer differently. You can also run the Fax Setup Wizard at any time after completing the software installation.

To print this setup summary, click Print.

2. When your fax is received by the HP Test Fax Service, we will generate a return fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and configuration.

NOTE. The most common cause of failure is that the fax number set in the Fax Header on the machine does not match the number of the phone line connected to the fax. Also, ensure that the fax header contains the full 10-digit telephone number of the fax machine, including the area code.

For more information or assistance, click Contact HP at the top of this page.

Re Aarun Sharma

To Whom It May Concern:

We are writing on behalf of Mr. Aarun Sharma to request that he be granted a leave of absence from his place of employment due to the enclosed letter. His brother, Ashwin Sharma is a 16 year old boy who unfortunately on December 24, 2014 was admitted to BC Children's Hospital and diagnosed with Acute Myelogenous Leukemia. He is currently an inpatient treated under the Department of Pediatric Oncology.

Due to the severity of his illness, Ashwin will require intensive chemotherapy for approximately 6 months. The majority of his treatment will be done as an inpatient due to the fact that his immune system will be highly compromised. Chemotherapy will also cause him to feel unwell and suffer from fatigue, nausea, mucositis, muscle fatigue, loss of hair and overall general weakness. Therefore he will require his family to support him through his difficult journey.

Anything that can be done to assist Aarun Sharma at this time is much appreciated. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Elaine Feddle, MD

A Cyberattack in Saudi Arabia Had a Deadly Goal. Experts Fear Another Try.

By NICOLE PERLROTH and CLIFFORD KRAUSS MARCH 15, 2018

In August, a petrochemical company with a plant in Saudi Arabia was hit by a new kind of cyberassault. The attack was not designed to simply destroy data or shut down the plant, investigators believe. It was meant to sabotage the firm's operations and trigger an explosion.

The attack was a dangerous escalation in international hacking, as faceless enemies demonstrated both the drive and the ability to inflict serious physical damage. And United States government officials, their allies and cybersecurity researchers worry that the culprits could replicate it in other countries, since thousands of industrial plants all over the world rely on the same American-engineered computer systems that were compromised.

Investigators have been tight-lipped about the August attack. They still won't identify the company or the country where it is based, and have not identified the culprits.

But the attackers were sophisticated and had plenty of time and resources, an indication that they were most likely supported by a government, according to more than a dozen people, including cybersecurity experts who have looked into the attack.

Section 1 Introduction to Summary of Benefits

Thank you for your interest in the AARP MedicareRx Plans. Our plans are offered by UnitedHealthcare® Insurance Company or UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company of New York for New York residents, a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan that contracts with the Federal government. This Summary of Benefits tells you some features of our plans. It doesn't list every drug we cover every limitation, or exclusion. To get a complete list of our benefits, please call the AARP MedicareRx Plans and ask for the "Evidence of Coverage."

You have choices in your Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage.

As a Medicare beneficiary, you can choose from different Medicare prescription drug coverage options. One option is to get prescription drug coverage through a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan, like the AARP MedicareRx Plans. Another option is to get your prescription drug coverage through a Medicare Advantage Plan that offers prescription drug coverage. You make the choice.

How can I compare my options?

The charts in this booklet list some important drug benefits. You can use this Summary of Benefits to compare the benefits offered by the AARP MedicareRx Plans to the benefits offered by other Medicare Prescription Drug Plans or Medicare Advantage Plans with prescription drug coverage.

Where are the AARP MedicareRx Plans available?

The service area for these plans includes:

Pennsylvania, West Virginia

You must live in one of these areas to join these plans. If you move out of the state or county where you currently live, to a state listed above, you must call Customer Service to update your information. If you don't, you may be disenrolled from the AARP MedicareRx Plans. If you move to a state not listed above, please call Customer Service to find out if UnitedHealthcare has a plan in your new state or county.

There is more than one plan listed in this Summary of Benefits. If you are enrolled in one plan and wish to switch to another plan, you may do so only during certain times of the year. Please call Customer Service for more information.

Who is eligible to join?

You can join these plans if you are entitled to Medicare Part A and/or enrolled in Medicare Part B and live in the service area.

If you are enrolled in an MA coordinated care (HMO or PPO) plan or an MA PFFS plan that includes Medicare prescription drugs, you may not enroll in a PDP unless you disenroll from the HMO, PPO or MA PFFS plan.

Enrollees in a private fee-for-service plan (PFFS) that does not provide Medicare prescription drug coverage or an MA Medical Savings Account (MSA) plan may enroll in a PDP. Enrollees in an 1876 Cost plan may enroll in a PDP.

Where can I get my prescriptions?

The AARP MedicareRx Plans have formed a network of pharmacies. You must use a network pharmacy to receive plan benefits. We will not pay for your prescriptions if you use an out-of-network pharmacy, except in certain cases.

The AARP MedicareRx Plans have a list of preferred pharmacies. At these pharmacies, you may get your drugs at a lower copay or coinsurance. A non-preferred pharmacy is still a network

Zoom V 92 USB Modem (3095)

This controller based modem is smaller than the US Robotics unit and may be available for under $25 (used) This modem was recommended in a Macintouch user report

Testing Notes: In my testing this modem worked well. No software installation was necessary When I plugged the modem in, I was alerted that a new device had appeared. In the Network Preferences panel, I selected USB Modem -> Advanced -> Modem -> Vendor: Zoom, Model Universal (115K)

USRobotics (USR5637)

This is a traditional controller based modem from a manufacturer with a solid product history The modem includes its own control processor which understands AT commands directly, so only a basic USB serial driver is needed The USR5637 is widely available for around US$50

Testing Notes: In my testing, this modem worked well The manual included with the modem is unclear about the installation procedure You'll need to install the software from the included CD first and then plug-in the modem for it to be recognized by Mac OS X In the Network Preferences panel, select USB Modem, click Advanced, set the Vendor to "Other", and Model to "USRobotics 56K USB Modem" I also tested faxing with this modem and it worked without incident

This modem is about the size of a cell phone (significantly larger than the Zoom or Apple USB Modem) There is no speaker, so to hear the modem dial and connect you must pickup a handset An online User Guide is available.

I had no trouble running both the Apple USB Modem and USRobotics Modem at the same time Having run both modems continuously over an extended period, I prefer the USRobotics modem for its stability It's more modern for about the same price

Apple USB Modem

[16-Jun-2011 The Apple USB Modem is not supported on Mac OS X Lion because the modem driver is a 32-bit kernel extension and Lion boots with a 64-bit kernel by default]

This is a controllerless or software modem based on the Motorola SM56 design The advantages of a software modem are low cost, low power consumption, and compact design The disadvantage is that modem processing is offloaded to a specialized driver that runs on the host computer In this case, Apple has customized Motorola's driver to produce a generally solid product At the time of this writing, Apple has discontinued the Apple USB Modem (MA034Z/A) but they are still widely available for around US$50

10 things I can never find in PowerPoint 2007/2010

By Susan Harkins
October 13, 2010 7:29 AM PDT

Takeaway: If you're having trouble tracking down features you knew by heart in PowerPoint 2003, this list will help you zero in on the options that the newest versions have scattered among various tabs.

Of all the Office 2007 and 2010 apps, PowerPoint's tab and group structure seems to make the most sense. Even though there's an initial adjustment, finding most options in the newer versions is fairly easy. Still, a few old habits are dying harder than others, and frankly, a few placements just don't make sense. Even though I'm acclimated to the product now, I still find myself moving in the wrong direction with a few options.

1: 3-D Style

Taking a two-dimensional shape to the next level — 3-D — is a simple presto-change-o task in PowerPoint 2003. You select the shape and choose what you want from the 3-D Style options on the Drawing toolbar. Right before your very eyes, you have a three-dimensional shape. Not so fast in PowerPoint 2007 and 2010. The 3-D option isn't that hard to find, but it probably isn't in the first place you look.

First, select the shape. When the context Format tab appears, click Shape Effects. As you can see in Figure A, there's a 3-D Rotation option, but no 3-D Style or Format option, which is a bit strange.

Purpose of Form

An individual or entity (Form W-9 requester) who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) which may be your social security number (SSN), individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), adoption taxpayer identification number (ATIN), or employer identification number (EIN), to report on an information return the amount paid to you, or other amount reportable on an information return. Examples of information returns include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Form 1099-INT (interest earned or paid)
- Form 1099-DIV (dividends, including those from stocks or mutual funds)
- Form 1099-MISC (various types of income, prizes, awards, or gross proceeds)
- Form 1099-B (stock or mutual fund sales and certain other transactions by brokers)
- Form 1099-S (proceeds from real estate transactions)
- Form 1099-K (merchant card and third party network transactions)
- Form 1098 (home mortgage interest), 1098-E (student loan interest), 1098-T (tuition)
- Form 1099-C (canceled debt)
- Form 1099-A (acquisition or abandonment of secured property)

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN.

If you do not return Form W-9 to the requester with a TIN, you might be subject to backup withholding. See What is backup withholding? on page 2.

By signing the filled-out form, you:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim an exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income, and
4. Certify that FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that you are exempt from the FATCA reporting, is correct. See What is FATCA reporting? on page 2 for further information.

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord; so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

Bishop of Trenton

TEST FAX FROM CISCO

In the late '70s T.30 was created to make fax machines something they and never been before, interoperable. But many of their manufacturers wanted to go outside of T.30 and continue to use some of their non-standard tricks and abilities. The integrated circuit had begun to make good on its promise to produce a bounty of affordable consumer electronics. This meant that fax machines could go from being arcane, proprietary and extremely expensive to commodities if only their makers could get over the temptation to make their units different in a way no one else could work with. Clearly a compromise was called for.

The T.30 facsimile protocol was written with many of its tolerances specified loosely enough to accommodate most of the odd stretch and compression of tuning and signal content that had plagued fax interoperability since the inception of its market. In numerous places, it was carefully written to be as generally accepting as was possible and still support the desire for inter-operation that caused it to be created in the first place. What it couldn't do was accept all manner of odd page image resolutions, strange encoding and outright changes to the signal flow between terminals. Those manufacturers who really wanted to use their deeply proprietary techniques for such things needed to have an out from T.30 once the fax call had begun and the originating device knew for sure that the answering device was one of its own. The solution that brought them aboard the T.30 bandwagon was just that, a back door.

NSF stands for Non-Standard Facilities. The name actually says it all. NSF is the exit door for a fax call that was started using the compatibility conferred by the T.30 protocol. It permits both terminals to go into a completely proprietary mode wherein they can use any page transmission techniques they can mutually agree upon. When two fax machines enter phase B of their call negotiations, they exchange their capabilities via the T.30 specified DIS and DCS messages. DIS from the answering unit conveys its T.30 compliant features via a string of data bits in the originating device which compares those features to its own list and generates a "best union of abilities" between the two. If for example the answerer can support only the V.27 and V.29 modulations but the originator can use V.27, V.29 and the more advanced V.17 the originator's DCS message will constrain the modulation to V.29 to accommodate the answerer's lesser modulation capability. However the answerer may include the optional NSF frame (or frames) along with its DIS opening up other possibilities.

The NSF frame contains table bits very similar to those in DIS except that they specify features that lie outside of T.30 and, necessarily, outside of the recognition of any fax machine other than one from the same manufacturer as the answering device. Most fax terminals emit NSF frames along with their DIS frames during the reception of a fax call. Where the process gets interesting is when the originating device recognizes both the origin of the answerer's NSF and its contents as being consonant with its own NSF feature set. Now the originator can respond with an NSS (Non-Standard Services) that takes the place of the DCS and sets up a fax exchange that may have little or nothing to do with the T.30 protocol. Once an answerer's NSF and an originator's

Training Guidelines

• Always begin with a 5-10 minute cardio warm up or 5-10 minutes of dynamic stretching to warm up

• Focus on "controlled" technique and full range of motion for first few weeks

• Progress to faster "cadences" for each exercise. Your goal is to lift "explosively" but not at the expense of a "controlled rhythm." You are not lifting slowly but you are not lifting recklessly with momentum

• Increase the loads by pyramiding your weights heavier only when you have established and mastered your technique with a full range of motion and have found your personal "rhythm" for the best experience and intensity

• To summarize: Increase the intensity and experience of the workout with controlled technique, then greater range of motion, then increased speed of movements and then added resistance

• Begin with the higher rep ranges and lighter weights and progress towards the lower rep ranges and heavier weights as the weeks roll. Don't be afraid to listen to your instincts if your body is telling you to push some heavier weights and work in the lower rep ranges. If the "experience" of intensity begins to sacrifice then go right back into the higher rep ranges. Listen to your body and "keep the program alive."

• Start on the lower end of the set recommendations and add one extra set each week and again, don't be afraid to listen to your body if you feel you can accomplish an extra set ahead of schedule without sacrificing intensity. For complete beginners, it's okay if you only start with one set of each exercise

• Your goal is to start with a maximum of 60 second rest and work your way down to 30 second rest, between each set, for the entire workout. No matter what your fitness level is, even as you progress, you should be "sucking for air" throughout the entire workout. The only difference, as you progress, will be your ability to tolerate the oxygen debt better

• To summarize: proper training progression is based on improving strength and conditioning. Your results will be reflected based on your ability to train with heavier loads in greater fatigued states

• Progress is the name of the game. Start the workouts at a comfortable "pace" and focus on "getting into the hurt box" more and more each workout. As long as you're getting faster, stronger and more conditioned each workout then your body will adapt and improve its work capacity

Throughout the text, numerous distinct references were made which call attention to the human mind Consider the mind when William Wilson describes the school house.

> "The house, I have said, was old and irregular. The grounds were extensive, and a high and solid brick wall, topped with a bed of mortar and broken glass, encompassed the whole. /There was really no end to it's windings - to it's incomprehensible subdivisions. /... From each room to every other there were sure to be found three or four steps either in ascent or descent. /Then the lateral branches were innumerable - inconceivable - ..." (Poe 372-373).

There are several good descriptions of the human mind mentioned here. Old could be describing a bank of stored knowledge, with irregular thought processes. Extensive can relate to the capabilities of the mind instead of the physical make up of a school's grounds. Having no end to windings and Ein Blick in die Wohnzimmer der Zukunft: TV und Internet verschmelzen, Firmen träumen von zielgenauer Werbung.

Berlin-Die Frauenstimme spricht von einer fast idealen Fernsehwelt „Da laufen immer gute Sendungen Da ist immer etwas Interessantes zu finden " Die Stimme gehört zu einem Werbespot, der Google TV schmackhaft machen will. Der Internet-Gigant hat sich nichts Geringeres vorgenommen, als das Fernsehen 2.0 zu erfinden.

Google TV ist eine Software mit der zunächst Sony-Fernseher und Settop-Boxen ausgestattet werden Noch vor Weihnachten soll's in den USA losgehen. Doch Google ist nicht allein. Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord. so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving nf Fathers O St Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle

Maintaining Your Iron Level After Blood Donation

Donating a unit of whole blood (about one pint) causes you to lose your body's iron as well as temporarily reduces blood cells. Low iron levels may cause you to make less blood. You should learn more about iron and food donation at www.redcrossblood.org/donating-blood/iron. Follow this advice:

- Eat a healthy, balanced diet containing iron-rich foods.
  - Some iron-rich foods are meats, fish, seafood, cereals fortified with iron, beans and spinach.
- Take iron supplements if your doctor or nurse suggests it. Females who donate whole blood:
  - Are younger than 50 who donate 2 or more units a year
  - Are premenopausal who donate 3 or more units a year
  - Are men who donate 3 or more units a year
- Discuss your iron level, how much iron you need to take in an iron supplement and if you should take it with your doctor.

Complications After Blood Donation

Complications after giving blood are uncommon but can happen. Minor side effects usually start soon after blood donation and resolve within minutes to a few hours, but delayed complications are also possible.

Bruises

Bruising or pain at the site of the needle may occur after blood donation. Blood can ooze out of the vein and into the surrounding tissue to cause swelling or a discolored area, like a typical black-and-blue mark. The leaked blood can also cause discomfort in the arm or around the elbow area. The bruised area may change colors (from red to big scar, to yellow) and may take one week or more to heal completely.

Here are some things you can do to treat a bruise:

- Apply ice on and off for 10 to 15 minutes at a time, over several hours, during the first day.
- On the second day, apply intermittent warm moist cloth to the area for 10 to 15 minutes at a time, over several hours, using warm compresses or shallow, warm water.
- For pain, use over-the-counter pain medications (Tylenol® or naproxen) that do not block platelets from working, so the package instructions.

You may need additional care if:

- You have swelling or numbness in your fingers or arm.
- You have redness, swelling, or pus where the needle was inserted.
- Your symptoms get worse.

Dizziness and Fainting

Some donors may have dizziness, lightheadedness or a queasy feeling and some may faint.

If you start to feel dizzy or lightheaded or feel like you might faint, here are some things you can do:

- Drink a few extra glasses of water over the next 24 hours. Avoid alcoholic beverages.
- Keep yourself safe by taking these precautions:
  - Stop what you are doing, sit down or lie down until you feel better.
  - If you are driving, safely pull over and park the car until you feel better.
  - Avoid performing any activity where fainting might lead to injury for the next 24 hours or until you feel better.

You may need additional care for injuries from falls if:

- You hit your head and also developed symptoms—such as persistent vomiting, balance problems, blurry or double vision or difficulty concentrating—which require immediate medical evaluation.
- You have a cut, which may require evaluation for stitches, especially if it is on your face.
- Your symptoms get worse.

For any medical emergency seek immediate medical care before calling 911.

Please call us at 1-800-276-2345 to report problems after giving blood.

Fax (short for facsimile), sometimes called telecopying or telefax (the latter short for telefacsimile), is the telephonic transmission of scanned printed material (both text and images), normally to a telephone number connected to a printer or other output device. The original document is scanned with a fax machine (or a telecopier), which processes the contents (text or images) as a single fixed graphic image, converting it into a bitmap, and then transmitting it through the telephone system in the form of audio-frequency tones. The receiving fax machine interprets the tones and reconstructs the image, printing a paper copy.[1] Early systems used direct conversions of image darkness to audio tone in a continuous or analog manner. Since the 1980s, most machines modulate the transmitted audio frequencies using a digital representation of the page which is compressed to quickly transmit areas which are all-white or all-black

SAVE REVOLUTION BOOKS

Humanity Needs Revolution

Revolution Needs Revolution Books

Revolution Books Needs You

Revolution Books needs your support now. RB's lease has come up for renewal and your support is essential. There's no other place like RB – where people discover and engage the world and the possibility for radical change – a bookstore at the center of a movement for revolution. Become a sustainer of RB today, Donate funds, Buy books. Come to RB. Experience it.

The horrors of the world are right there in front of us. Just turn the pages of the paper, or on the news channels. We wear the ashes of hundreds of women workers killed in Bangladesh. U.S. drones slaughter whole families in Pakistan's tribal areas. Hunger striking prisoners at Guantanamo are force fed; prisoners in California's prisons call a hunger strike again as conditions considered inhumane by all to be. The ecology of the planet is threatened with destruction. The drumbeat for US imperialist military action in the Middle East grows louder by the day. The Obama administration backs sweeping new measures limiting basic rights. The number arrested under "stop and frisk" just reached 5 MILLION, feeding a generation of young people of color into a system of mass incarceration.

At a time when humanity is facing unspeakable horrors and the world cries out for revolution, there is one bookstore where you can find the books and the deep engagement about why the world is the way it is and the possibility of a radically different and better way the world could be. That store is Revolution Books. Scientific and poetic, straightforward and visionary, Revolution Books is at the center of building a movement for revolution. Yet its existence and growth requires new sources of support – it needs YOUR support. It is a rare resource for the future of us all. It must not be lost.

Revolution Books is where all can learn that the possibility for emancipating revolution exists. It is where you can find and dig into the work of Bob Avakian, who over several decades has summed up the positive and negative experience of the communist revolutions so far drawing from a broad range of human experience. As the result, a new synthesis of communism has been brought forward – a viable vision and strategy for a radically new society and world – and there is also the crucial leadership that is needed to carry forward the struggle toward that goal.

This vision is needed now in the face such global horrors. It forms up the whole political atmosphere to the possibility of fundamental change, providing a way out of the madness. At Revolution Books you can partake in a rebellious spiritual that refuses to accept the horrors of today's world. Revolutionaries from across the wide ranging scope of intellectual work, ferment and dissent that is integral to the emancipation of humanity, offering an amazing collection of books and DVDs on history and political theory, novels and poetry, Marxism and science, people's lives and philosophy, visual art and film as well as children's literature and books in Spanish.

With its regular programs of mind expanding events – book readings, debates, discussions, film showings, musical performances – Revolution Books invites participation and engagement in the search for a new way for the world. And it is where people can connect with the movement for revolution.

Can you think of a bookstore that is more needed?

Visit Revolution Books, Buy your books there. Make a financial contribution. Become one of 100 new monthly sustainers who commit in the next few months to keep that store open in Manhattan. When you become a sustainer you get a discount and a Revolution Books coffee mug, but you get something far more important, a bookstore at the center of building a movement for revolution.

HP Fax Products - Testing Your HP Fax Machine with the HP Fax Test Service

Introduction

This document will assist you in testing your HP Fax machine using the HP Fax Test Service.

Print this document for easy reference by clicking the Printable Version link in the upper right corner of this page.

Test your fax machine

To test the capability of your fax machine, follow the directions below

NOTE:

Be sure that your phone number is not Caller ID blocked by your telephone company prior to attempting to send and receive a Fax. Pressing *82 before dialing the toll free number will unblock the Caller ID blocking feature in most areas. Other phone company services can prevent you from receiving a fax, including voice mail, call blocking or call privacy features.

NOTE:

Whenever troubleshooting a fax issue, it is good practice to set the Automatic Reports option to Every Error before attempting a test fax. This way even if the sent fax fails, an error code will be generated that will guide you in future troubleshooting. This option is available in different places on different products, consult the product User's Guide for specific steps.

1. Send a one page mock and white test fax to 1-888-hpfaxme (1-888-473-2963)
2. When your fax is received by the HP Test Fax Service, we will generate a return Fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a Fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return Fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and configuration.

NOTE:

The most common cause of failure is that the fax number set in the Fax Header on the received does not match the number of the phone line connected to the fax. Make sure that the fax header contains the full 10-digit telephone number of the fax machine, including the area code.

For more information or assistance, click Contact HP at the top of this page.

Working Income Tax Benefit Advance Payments Application for 2009

Is this form for you?

Use this form to apply for the Working Income Tax Benefit (WITB) advance payments for 2009.

The WITB is for low-income individuals and families who have earned income from employment or business. For more information on the WITB eligibility requirements, see Pamphlet RC4227 Working Income Tax Benefit. To get this pamphlet, visit our Web site at www.cra.gc.ca/forms or call 1-800-959-2221.

You cannot apply for the WITB advance payments for 2009 if you became or ceased to be a resident of Canada in 2009.

What are the WITB advance payments?

The WITB advance payments represent a maximum of 50% of the WITB refundable tax credit that you can claim on your 2009 income tax and benefit return. Any WITB that you are entitled to and do not receive as advance payments will be credited to you when we assess your 2009 tax return.

For more information, visit our Web site at www.cra.gc.ca/witb or see Pamphlet RC4227 Working Income Tax Benefit, or call 1-800-959-8281. To get this pamphlet, visit our Web site at www.cra.gc.ca/forms or call 1-800-959-2221.

Disability supplement

If you are eligible for the WITB and the disability amount, you can complete Part 3 to request disability supplement advance payments for 2009. That will be included as part of your WITB advance payments.

You are eligible for the disability amount if we have an approved Form T2201 Disability Tax Credit Certificate, on file for you. To get Form T2201, visit our Web site at www.cra.gc.ca/forms or call 1-800-959-2221.

When should you apply for the advance payments?

To receive the WITB advance payments, you should apply between January 1 and August 31, 2009, by completing this form.

Applications received after August 31, 2009, will not be processed. However, if you are eligible for the WITB, you can still claim it on your 2009 tax return.

Who should receive the advance payments?

If you have a spouse or common-law partner, the spouse or common-law partner who expects to have the higher working income in 2009 should receive the WITB advance payments for the family unless one of you qualifies for the disability supplement. In that case, the spouse or common-law partner who qualifies for the disability supplement should receive the advance payments.

If both of you qualify for the disability supplement, the person with the higher expected working income in 2009 should receive the advance payments.

When will you receive the WITB advance payments?

After we process your application, the total of your WITB advance payments will be divided by the number of payment dates left in the year and paid in equal instalments on the remaining dates. The payment dates are April 3, July 3, October 5, 2009, and January 5, 2010.

If the total of your annual WITB advance payments calculated is less than $100, you will not receive any advance payments. However, if you are eligible for the WITB, you can still claim it on your 2009 tax return.

Filing an income tax and benefit return

If you receive the WITB advance payments for 2009, you have to file a 2009 income tax and benefit return. We will not issue advance payments for 2010 until we assess your 2009 tax return.

In January 2010, we will send you a statement of the WITB advance payments issued to you for use in completing your 2009 tax return. You will receive any additional WITB that you are entitled to when you file your 2009 tax return. If the WITB advance payments you received were more than the total WITB you are entitled to, you may have to repay the difference when you file your tax 2009 return.

Partner's Instructions for Schedule K-1 (Form 1065)

Partner's Share of Income, Deductions, Credits, etc. (For Partner's Use Only)

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

Go to www.irs.gov/form1065sk1 for the latest information about developments related to Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published.

General Instructions

Purpose of Schedule K-1

The partnership used Schedule K-1 to report your share of the partnership's income, deductions, credits, and items for your records. Do not file it and your tax return unless you are specifically required to do so (see the instructions for Form 8082). Because partnership and S corporation rules are similar, you may receive a Schedule K-1 even if you receive one from an S corporation.

Use your Schedule K-1 and these instructions to help you report the partnership items correctly on your tax return.

You generally must file your tax return no later than the date you receive your Schedule K-1. If the partnership's responsibility is unusually complex, it may request an extension. See Publication 509, Tax Calendars, for more information.

Inconsistent Treatment of Items

Generally, you must report partnership items on your tax return consistently with the way they are reported on the partnership return. If you treat a partnership item inconsistently, you may be subject to penalties unless you file a statement disclosing the inconsistent treatment. For more information, see the instructions for Form 8082, Notice of Inconsistent Treatment or Administrative Adjustment Request (AAR).

If the partnership is required to file Form 8893, Election of Partnership Level Tax Treatment, or Form 8893-A, Election of Partnership Level Tax Treatment Under Section 6231(a)(1)(B)(ii), and your partnership is subject to the consistency rules, you must treat each item on your return in a manner consistent with the treatment of the item on the partnership return. If you intend to treat any item inconsistently, you must file Form 8082 and identify and explain the inconsistent treatment. Otherwise, you may be treated as negligent.

Errors

If you believe the partnership has made an error on your Schedule K-1, notify the partnership and ask for a corrected Schedule K-1. You may receive one from the partnership if it discovers that an error was made on the Schedule K-1 it already filed. If you are a member of a partnership that doesn't meet the small partnership exception and you need any partnership item on your return to be treated differently from how the partnership reported it, you must file Form 8082.

Sale or Exchange of Partnership Interest

Generally, a partner who sells or exchanges a partnership interest must report ordinary income (loss) from unrealized receivables and inventory items the partnership has. Report the income (loss) in addition to any capital gain (loss) on the sale or exchange of the partnership interest. Unrealized receivables include amounts that would be ordinary income (loss) if the partnership sold its assets at fair market value. For more information, see section 751.

Specific Instructions

Enter your name, address, and identifying number at the top of the pages you file. Be sure to enter the partnership's EIN. If you were a partner at any time during the tax year, enter your ending percentage of profit, loss, and capital sharing. Do not enter future percentages if they are subject to change at a later date.

Item A. Enter the partnership's name, address, and EIN.

Item B. Check the box that describes the partnership. If you are a partner in a publicly traded partnership (PTP), as defined in section 469(k)(2), you must report your share of income, deductions, gains, and losses from the PTP separately from other passive activities. Also, you may be subject to limitations on the passive activity loss and credit that you can claim with respect to the PTP. See the instructions for Form 8582, Passive Activity Loss Limitations, and Form 8582-CR, Passive Activity Credit Limitations, for more information.

Item C. Check the box that describes you. If you are a limited partner, enter "LP" in parentheses after the box. If you are a general partner who also has a limited partnership interest, check both boxes that apply.

Item D. Check the box that describes you. If you are a disregarded entity, a nominee, or a person who holds an interest in the partnership as an agent for another person, see the instructions for Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), Item D.

Item E. Check the box that describes you. If you are a retirement plan (including an individual retirement account (IRA)), check the box for "Individual retirement account (IRA), Archer MSA, or Coverdell ESA."

Item F. Check the box that describes you. If you are a nonresident alien individual, check the box for "Individual."

Item G. Check the box that describes you. If you are a member of a limited liability company (LLC) treated as a partnership for federal tax purposes, check the box for "Limited liability company." If you are a member of an LLC that has only one member and is disregarded as an entity separate from its owner for federal tax purposes, check the box for "Disregarded entity."

Item H. Check the box that describes you. If you are a member of a qualified joint venture (QJV) conducted by a husband and wife who file a joint return, check the box for "Qualified joint venture." Otherwise, check the box for "Partnership."

Item I. Check the box that describes you. If you are a member of a tiered partnership, check the box for "Tiered partnership."

Item J. Enter your beginning and ending percentages of profit, loss, and capital sharing. If your percentage will change at a specified future date, enter your future percentages. If you have no beginning percentage (for example, because you became a partner during the year), enter "0" for the beginning percentage. If you have no ending percentage (for example, because you sold your entire interest in the partnership during the year), enter "0" for the ending percentage. If your percentage will vary depending on future income, enter "Varies" and attach a statement explaining how the percentage will be determined.

Item K. Check the box that describes you. If you are a limited partner, check the box for "Limited partner or other LLC member." If you are a general partner who also has a limited partnership interest, check both boxes that apply.

Item L. Enter your beginning and ending capital account balances. If you have no beginning balance (for example, because you became a partner during the year), enter "0." If you have no ending balance (for example, because you sold your entire interest in the partnership during the year), enter "0."

Item M. Check the box that describes you. If you are a partner who contributed property with a built-in gain or loss, check the box for "Section 704(c) gain (loss)." Otherwise, check the box for "None."

Item N. Enter your beginning and ending shares of liabilities. If you have no beginning balance (for example, because you became a partner during the year), enter "0." If you have no ending balance (for example, because you sold your entire interest in the partnership during the year), enter "0."

Item O. Check the box that describes you. If you are a partner who contributed property with a built-in gain or loss, check the box for "Section 704(c) gain (loss)." Otherwise, check the box for "None."

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

In this chapter I explore what is apt and accurate for an understanding of the law by beginning at three beginnings, three moments of intent when cities first constituted their unsightly beggars and embarked on the futile and ...ultimately productive project of manag ng their Together the three city histories illuminate the persistent nexus of disability and poverty at the heart of the ugly law, as well as illustrating the complex interweaving of economic interest, social policy, and cultural (including aesthetic) imagination at work in the production not just of the unsightly beggar but of the nineteenth century American cityscape.

SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco's ugly law is the earliest I have found.[1] It was passed in 1867 significantly earlier than the 1880s and 1890s when unsightly beggar ordinances were in vogue. California, writes Kevin Starr, has functioned as "one of the prisms through which the American people, for better or worse, could glimpse the future," and it may be that the ugly law is one of those prisms, an early peek into one form of modernity that later swept the nation (xiv). San Francisco in 1867 was in urban shock. It was a city under enormous sociohistorical pressure, reeling from its Gold Rush boom and subsequent bust, a conflicted urban culture shaped by multinational migration (including, crucially, Chinese immigration) and by the ongoing reverberations of the U.S. annexation of California from Mexico twenty years earlier (see Starr). Claire Sears in her San Francisco–centered study of cross-dressing regulation has delineated how anti-norms ng governmental commitment to achieving moral order through municipal law emerged in the city after the armed coup by the elite import/export business sector which led the 1856 Vigilance Committee.[2] Vigilantes and their allies dominated local politics for almost twenty years, Sears writes, "and ushered in a wave of laws that targeted offenses against good morals and decency, including cross-dressing law and ugly law" (74).

In San Francisco, at its earliest known enact, American ugly law appears as a clear subset of begging law. The San Francisco ordinance begins with a general order to "Prohibit Street Begging"; the wording of ugly law taken up later by other city councils as a stand- alone law emerges in San Francisco's code book as an embedded section 3 of a broader anti-mendicancy statute—embedded but at the same time underscored. The title of the order as a whole couples two linked but also potentially distinct transgressions: "Order No. 873. To Prohibit Street Begging, and to Restrain Certain Cambodia is a country in Southeast Asia bordering Thailand to the west and northwest. Laos to the north and Vietnam to the east and southeast. Cambodia has a population of over 14 million people, with the majority relying on agriculture as a means of living. Cambodia was heavily affected during the United States war in Vietnam. US forces bombed Cambodia from 1969 to 1973 in an attempt to disrupt the Viet Cong. Depending on who you talk to, these military actions either were vital to defending Cambodia's capital city Phnom Penh, or had no impact at all. The bombings did however leave the country in poor condition. Many animals used to farm had been killed, and starvation was widespread. The weakened state of the country allowed for an easy coup by a group called "The Khmer Rouge" led by a man Pol Pot. The Khmer Rouge immediately set about to changing the country by sending entire urban populations into the country to rebuild the countries decimated agriculture. Over a million Cambodians died from starvation, executions, overwork, and disease. Today Cambodia is in a much better place. A relative state of political stability under a constitutional monarchy governs the country. UN tribunals have brought many of the leaders of the Khmer Rouge to justice. This is the country I had the opportunity to visit last summer, and I am here today to tell you a little bit about that experience that changed my views of the world, of life, and of me.

In my family, there exists a strange, yet wonderful tradition. My cousin Erika and her husband Michael have lived all over the world doing different projects. When my sister and brother were in high school, they lived in the small country Bangladesh. They invited my siblings to come over and spend a few weeks with them to get to see a country outside America, and to get outside their comfort zone. When it was my turn, they were living in Phnom Penh, the capital city of Cambodia. They invited me to come, and as you can imagine, I was deeply excited and nervous. Who was I to fly by myself to some foreign country for a few weeks in the summer? So many things could go wrong! In the end, I felt that I needed to do it. My whole life had been a comfortable rule of relative luxury and wealth that a middle class youth living in upstate NY has at his disposal. It was time that I packed my things into a small suitcase and backpack, and see if this whole traveling business was all it was cracked up to be. It was quite an exciting experience because I flew from Elmira NY to Philadelphia PA, to Seattle WA, to Taipei Taiwan, to Phnom Penh Cambodia all by myself. I felt as if I threw myself of the cliffs of my comfort zone into the charming waters of the unknown. I loved the feeling of knowing no one was there to hold my hand, and that I was in control of my own destiny.

As soon as I stepped off the plane, the heat wrapped its steamy arms around me and didn't let go till the amber sun had set well over the horizon. Taking two or three showers a day is normal, and often encouraged, due to the high humidity and temperatures that get to around 110 degrees. The traffic in Phnom Penh would make any New Yorker look at a rush hour and laugh. Cars and trucks swam over the baking blacktop among mopeds, tuk tuks, motor cycles, motos, and bicycles like whales among schools of minnows. The loosely enforced traffic laws were more like a guide line by which to drive by, and it was normal for a lone car or truck to be driving on the opposite side of the road going against traffic.

Connect Another Computer or Device To My Wireless Network

If you want to connect another computer or device to your wireless network, follow these three steps.

Check For Wireless Capability

Verify that the computer or device has wireless capability. Many newer computers and devices have wireless technology built-in. If your computer doesn't have wireless capability, you can purchase an adapter and install it yourself. Be sure to buy an adapter that takes full advantage of your router's capability.

Current Network Settings

Before you connect your new device or computer, you will need the following information.

> Network Name (SSID): EsotericDove
> Security Key: BHNYE6bpyY
> Security Type: WPA2 or WPA

Connect a Computer or Other Device

Depending on your computer or device, how you connect to your wireless router may differ. These instructions show how to connect using Microsoft Windows® Wireless Network Connection Manager in Windows XP, Windows Vista® Windows 7 as well as with Apple® Internet Connect application for Mac® OS X. If you do not want to use one of these methods, or if your computer or turned uses different wireless management software, the steps are similar:

- Open the wireless management software on the computer or device.
- Look for your wireless network name (SSID) in the list of networks, or enter it manually. Your wireless network name is shown in the blue box above.
- Set the level or type of security to the security type as shown above.
- Enter your security key as shown above.

For devices other than computers, refer to its documentation if you're not sure how to use its wireless connection feature.

Wireless Connection Methods

There are several methods available for connecting wireless computers and devices to your router. You can use whatever method works best for your environment.

Using Windows Wireless Network Connection Manager on Windows XP

1. From the Windows Start menu, click Connect To, and then click Windows Network Connection.

   You can also right-click the Wireless Network icon in your system tray (located in the lower-right of your screen), and then click View Available Wireless Networks.

   The Wireless Network Connection window opens.

2. Click your network name (shown in the blue box at the beginning of this file), and then click Connect. If your wireless router has security turned on, the wireless password window will

How to Clean Tile Flooring

Home Methods Ways to Clean Tile Flooring Home Cleaning Methods Cleaning Floors Tile Flooring

Tile flooring is a durable choice for kitchens, bathrooms and other areas of the home and might get wet from time to time. With the proper care, tile flooring can look like new for years. Learn about the flooring, how to clean it, and how to clean stained grout. These techniques are appropriate for both ceramic and stone tile flooring. Also, don't forget mat in your clean

Method 1

Basic Tile Flooring Care

1 Sweep or vacuum the floor daily. This removes loose dirt, food particles and other pieces of debris and can accumulate on the floors. Dirt that is allowed to sit in wet areas can quickly turn into hard-to-remove paste.

- You should also sweep or vacuum the floor before cleaning or cleaning it.
- Run a dry cloth debris or dust mop over the floors after they have been swept.

2 Mop the floor with warm water. If the floor doesn't have stains or require heavy cleaning, running a damp mop over the floor will be sufficient to keep it water. Clean as the mop in fresh warm water after mopping one section of the room, and repeat until the whole floor is mopped.

- For everyday shine, simply run a clean damp flooring cloth over the floor

3 Dry the floor. Whether you use water or water debris with detergent, run a dry mop over the floor when you're finished mopping. This will prevent new dirt from quickly accumulating and staining the grout.

4 Clean up spills quickly. If you drop a glass of vinegar even water, clean it up right away. The longer it sits, the more time it will have to soak into the grout. Dried orange juice and other sugary liquids also tend to become annoyingly sticky.

5 Clean the debris spills with disinfectant. If your pet has an accident or you drop raw meat on the floor, spray a disinfectant directly over the area and wipe it up right away.

- If you also treat the disinfectant to the area where the spill occurred. Strong chemicals may degrade or stain the flooring.

Method 2

Deep Cleaning Techniques

1 Mop the floor with warm water and a vinegar solution. Mix 1/2 cup vinegar with a gallon of water and proceed to mop as usual. If the floor still doesn't look as clean as you would like, mop the floor again using fresh water and detergent.

- Rinse the floor with clean water when you are done washing it. It is important to remove all ceramic soap from the tiles so it doesn't remain on the floor to debris and hold dirt.
- Do not use vinegar or chemicals on stained flooring. Read How to Clean Marble for information on safely cleaning water floors.

2 Remove debris from the floors. If a spill is left to sit for awhile, it can stain your tile floor. paste a paste to spot clean the area.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to FaxToy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a larger version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

The average ER gain (cost) for the experiment runs 15 1 and 5 percent. The percentage errors in averaged over six images of size 321 × 481. Bold indicates the best error and time in each row.

Fig. 4. Examples of segmentations computed by R QR and our method for each row, and corresponding ER values. The size of the image is 321 × 321.

Recall that our method runs by calling the oracle and solving the LP in (12) at each iteration. Since we consider the mixed-grid graph, the oracle call, which involves minimizing a submodular pseudo-boolean function in using the graph cut algorithm, takes very little time. The number of variables can still be up the LP in (12) for our approach is small. Furthermore, for all constraint combinations in Table 2, but the number Lagrangian does not exceed 40 (average 27 std. 11.71 making the number of constraints of the LP small. The small size of the LP enables our method to run much faster than LR, which has to solve relative y large max programming problems.

The results of our experiments comparing the computational complexity of the three methods (ours LR, QR) are shown in Fig. 7. We used four 1 D (24-images, and each image was scaled down to eight small images of size $\frac{n}{2^k} \times 2$, $k = 0, \ldots, 7$. Each dot in the plots denotes the average running time of the specified method over four images having the same size specified on the x axis value. It can be seen that our method is substantially faster than the state-of-the-art LR and QR based approaches. Fig. 8 shows segmentation results yielded by our method for four original images of size 321 × 321.

Table 3 shows how solutions by the three methods mainly given in Section 6. Here we used two measures ER_Δ and $\mathrm{ER}_\%$ that denotes the percentage of a solution that are unsatisfied. For instance, if the size and variance constraints are considered and one of them is not satisfied then ER_Δ is counted as 0.5. $\mathrm{ER}_\%$ represents the deviation of the computed values from the inequality gap, thus providing a measure of the degree of satisfaction. For instance, let the inequality gap for S be $[a, b]$ and the size of a computed solution be $|S|$. $\mathrm{ER}_\%$ is then counted by using $\frac{a - |S|}{|S|} \times 100\%$ if $|S| < a$ and counted by if $|S| > b$. We observed that solutions computed by these methods satisfy the constraints or are very close to the constraints gap in general.

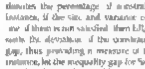

Fig. 8. Examples of segmentations by our method. Each original image has a size of 321 × 481.

7 Discussion and Conclusions

We have proposed a novel approach to constrained energy minimization. Our method is efficient and can handle a very large class of constraints including those that cannot be encoded by unary potentials, which cannot be achieved by using previously proposed methods since they usually requires the convexity of the problem [16], [18], [28]. To handle such general linear constraints, the penalty length, considered in our paper, we use a restricted search region in which the dual is computable. In our cases, the dual maximum is always found in that restricted search region which means that it does not affect the accuracy of our method. Although our approach can be used with certain non-submodular based methods [14], [26], it would require repeated solutions of the related problem to find

Devotion

One evening, a wife drew her husband's attention to the couple next door.

"See how devoted they are? He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?"

"I'd love to," replied her husband, "but wouldn't he'd get mad?"

For those who are interested, the husband's funeral is on Saturday, hehehe!

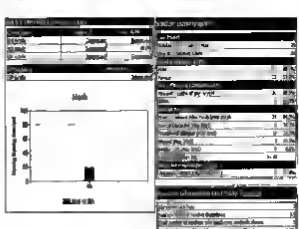
Annual School Performance Report

Invitation to participate
We welcome community participation in our schools. If you are interested in how you might help in our efforts to improve student learning, please call 884-5071 to speak to Superintendent Dr. Ismael Vivanco

SUMMARY OF 2014-2015 STUDENT AND STAFF DATA

This section of the annual report summarizes student and staff demographics, student assessment statistics, and district financial data. Additionally, a complete District and School Report Card is available online at the Washington Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI) website—www.k12.wa.us. On the right side of the OSPI home page, click on the box labeled "State Report Card" then select Palisades School District from the summary drop-down menu and click "go". Click the drop-down menu again to see individual schools in the district. Choose one of the tabs across the top of the page for Summary, MSP/HSPE, EOC (End of Course), Smarter Balanced, and Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) to see more details.



We are fortunate to have all our teachers highly qualified going into the 15-16 school year

News and Notes:

- As part of our annual reminders, Policy 4210 Regulation of Dangerous Weapons on School Premises states, " It is a violation of district policy and state law for any person to carry a firearm or dangerous weapon on school premises, school-provided transportation or areas of other facilities being used exclusively for school activities." I want to assure you that there have been NO issues or concerns regarding this policy, it is just part of our requirement to inform you. If you would like a complete copy of this policy, please be sure to contact our school
- We still have some big blocks of wood from the trees that we chopped down a while back. Please help yourself to that wood that is located just south of the school.
- Community Garage Sale is schedule for April 1-2, 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and April 3rd, 7:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Group

Analogue

Group 1 and 2 faxes were sent in the same manner as a frame of analogue television, with each scanned line transmitted as a continuous analogue signal. Horizontal resolution depended upon the quality of the scanner, transmission line, and the printer. Analogue fax machines are obsolete and no longer manufactured. ITU-T Recommendations T.2 and T.3 were withdrawn as obsolete in July 1996.

- Group 1 faxes conform to the ITU-T Recommendation T.2. Group 1 faxes take six minutes to transmit a single page, with a vertical resolution of 96 scan lines per inch. Group 1 fax machines are obsolete and no longer manufactured.
- Group 2 faxes conform to the ITU-T Recommendations T.30 and T.3. Group 2 faxes take three minutes to transmit a single page, with a vertical resolution of 96 scan lines per inch. Group 2 fax machines are almost obsolete, and are no longer manufactured. Group 2 fax machines can interoperate with Group 3 fax machines.

Digital

Group 3 and 4 faxes are digital formats, and take advantage of digital compression methods to greatly reduce transmission times.

- Group 3 faxes conform to the ITU-T Recommendations T.30 and T.4. Group 3 faxes take between six and fifteen seconds to transmit a single page (not including the initial time for the fax machines to handshake and synchronize). The horizontal and vertical resolutions are allowed by the T.4 standard to vary among a set of fixed resolutions:
  - Horizontal: 100 scan lines per inch
    - Vertical: 100 scan lines per inch
  - Horizontal: 200 or 204 scan lines per inch
    - Vertical: 100 or 98 scan lines per inch ('Standard')
    - Vertical: 200 or 196 scan lines per inch ('Fine')
    - Vertical: 400 or 391 (note not 392) scan lines per inch ('Superfine')
  - Horizontal: 300 scan lines per inch
    - Vertical: 300 scan lines per inch
  - Horizontal: 400 or 408 scan lines per inch

Intended Use

The sprayer is intended for use in spraying agricultural pesticides and other non flammable liquids.

SPRAYING PESTICIDES:
Pesticides are hazardous chemicals that must be handled with caution as directed throughout this manual and on the pesticide label. Pesticides are regulated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and defined as > Any substance or mixture of substances intended for preventing, destroying, repelling, or mitigating any pest. Though often misunderstood to refer only to insecticides, the term pesticide is a comprehensive term that applies to insecticides, herbicides, fungicides, and various other substances used to control pests.

The sprayer is intended for use in spraying pesticides in liquid form only. The sprayer is NOT intended for use in spraying pesticides in dry or aerosolized form, or for use with fumigants.

Some formulations of liquid pesticides do not remain in solution and should be agitated to maintain a uniform mix. An optional agitator (Item #28520) accessory is available for use with this sprayer and should be used when spraying pesticides classified as "flowable" ("F" or "L"), "wettable powder" ("WP" or "W"), "emulsion" ("EC" or "E"), "microencapsulated" ("M"), or water dispersible granules ("WDG" or "DF"). (See pesticide label to determine its classification.)

Sprayers 268100, 26810 and 268120 come equipped with a spot spray gun for applying pesticides on selected plants. If you wish to spray large ground areas, a tank-mounted broadcast kit (Item #268852), ATV mounted broadcast kit (Item #268195) and an ATV mounted broadcast boom kit (Item #273011) are available as optional accessories

Sprayers 268110 and 26812l0 come equipped with a spot spray gun and a tank mounted broadcast spraying system. Use the spot spray gun if you desire to apply pesticide only on selected plants. Use the broadcast spraying system if you wish to spray large ground areas.

SPRAYING OTHER LIQUIDS.
In addition to spraying pesticides, this sprayer may be used to spray other non-flammable liquids. Example uses include watering plants/trees or spraying water for dust control, applying ice control chemicals, or applying water-based, non-flammable sealant or stain to outdoor wood surfaces.
However, WE RECOMMEND THAT THE SPRAYER NOT BE USED FOR OTHER PURPOSES ONCE IT HAS ALREADY BEEN USED FOR SPRAYING PESTICIDES. Any chemical will leave some residual in the tank liner or sprayer components even after the sprayer has been properly cleaned. These residual chemicals can have unexpected effects on future uses. For example, spraying water or other liquids that are contaminated with residual pesticide may result in unforeseen hazards to plant or animal life.

Contact NorthStar Product Support at 1-800-270-0810 for any questions about the appropriate use of the sprayer and/or optional accessories.

Questions	Answers
If I do not enrol in Portfolio Manager or Portfolio Advisor will I still be able to talk face-to-face with a financial adviser?	Yes. You can talk with a financial advisor about your retirement plan at GPS.
What does a typical Plan look like?	It tells you the probability that you will receive your desired retirement income at your desired retirement date based on your responses in the questionnaire and it makes recommendations about how much you should contribute and how you should invest.
What does investment advice look like?	It recommends a specific asset allocation and portfolio of investment options (such as mutual funds) that is designed to help you achieve your retirement income and investment goals.
Is my investment advice implemented automatically?	If you enrol into Portfolio Advisor, you are responsible for implementing any advice that you choose to act upon. If you participate in Portfolio Manager, your investment advice is implemented automatically and your account is managed and adjusted as your circumstances change.
What and how often is my account rebalanced?	Participants enrolled in Portfolio Manager are rebalanced quarterly provided the difference between the current portfolio and the recommended portfolio exceeds a minimum threshold.
How often can I update or make changes to my personal data?	You may change your personal data at any time.
How long does a call with these services last?	Portfolio Advisor clients are entitled to a period of one year. Portfolio Manager clients are entitled until they decide to terminate the service.
Can I participate in GPS at any income?	Yes.
Can I continue participating in GPS after I retire?	Yes. As long as the plan in which you are a participant remains eligible for GPS.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

CONEXANT

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1 888 877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero, this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

She got plenty of exercise so as not to be skinny like her Shoestring cousins. And she was careful to avoid those hard-boiled guys from Ireland and those greasers, the French Fries. She even avoided going out West, so she wouldn't get scalloped. Yam didn't associate with snooty Yukon Golds or those loose ones who ride around in trucks labeled, "Frito Lay." Yam went to Potato University so that, when she graduated, she'd be in the Chips. But when Yam came home and announced she was going to marry Brian Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Potato were devastated. "You can't possibly marry Brian Williams," they cried. "He's just... a common tater!"

What's next for usRAP?

Star Ratings Based On Road Protection Score

EuroRAP and AusRAP have developed concepts based on a road protection score for assigning star ratings to roads based on their safety features, with four (or five) stars assigned to roads with the most proven safety features and one star to roads with the fewest safety features. This concept is potentially valuable because data are not always available to produce risk maps based on crash history. usRAP has begun to explore the development of maps based on inventories of road safety features that can be made either directly during road inspections, or subsequently from video of the road, at reasonable cost. While potentially promising, the methodology used to score roads and assign star ratings to roads requires further research and testing.

Additional Pilot Studies

usRAP will continue work in Iowa and Michigan to test the concept of performance tracking to document safety improvement over time. In addition, pilot studies have begun during 2006 in other states. It is expected that the initial usRAP concepts will evolve significantly as a result of the ongoing work.

PQRS by Patrick Durgin

ISBN: 978-0-9864475-7-6 $12.95 80pp. paperback poetry/drama/poses theater March 1, 2013

PQRS is a poesis theater script with initials for names and functions for characters. It is about linguistic contagion and blanket collusion, the fate of labor and play as literary genre (i.e. "essay") the utility of public art and site-specificity in the post-medium age, the plasticity of gender, the metaphysics of lyric address, and several other to pace. It was written between 1998 and 2012, mostly toward the end of that period.

Patrick Durgin is coeditor of The Route (Atrios, 2008, with Jen Hofer) and has published numerous chapbooks, including Imitation Poems (2006) and Color Menus (2002). Durgin is also editor of Hannah Weiner's Open House and The Early and Clairvoyant Journals of Hannah Weiner. He teaches critical theory, literature, and writing at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

It's one thing to advocate for writing that pushes boundaries, names discourses, and transgresses the dominant aesthetic, but it's quite another to actually write it. As a play, PQRS is not just unstageable, it is a monumental failure. That is, it fails with such clarity and coherence, legitimate anger, and abandon that it turns into a kind of monument, marking the point where the intellect's pessimistic collapses into the will's optimism. The many models and forerunners for a project this radical include the posthumously published texts of Gertrude Stein, referred to explicitly here as "the most exhaustive syllabic implosion in prose of any language." But if Stein's implosion was horizontal, PQRS goes vertical, running up and down the scale of rhetorics—essay, drama, lists of potential performance art projects, lit crit, film crit, music history autobiography back to drama, intermission, critique of capital, URL of a Tumblr page of women laughing while holding salads, back to drama (and, some). "The text transcends its own conditions." In dire and unaccountable times, that's the hope.
–Brent Cunningham

Reminiscent of Guy Debord's The Society of the Spectacle, albeit in an intensified and wildly fluid twenty-first century context, Patrick Durgin's essay-as-poesis script releases a disjunctive energy typically suppressed in theater. This is a theater of compressed time, hurtling within the seams of global capital's themes. A spooky and illuminating work.
–Carla Harryman

With a genuine sweep and suspense, PQRS up-ends and pale shows received ideas of genre, putting its principal characters (the eponymous P, Q, R and my own favorite, S) through their paces on an imaginary stage in an imaginary play. Designed not to be acted or produced, Durgin calls this work a "script," which I take for its straightforward modesty. But as I see it, it's first cousin to something like the 1930s "essay-novels" of Virginia Woolf, Orlando or The Waves—books written simultaneously on two veins, each illuminating the other in unexpected, and here thrilling, ways. Like aging stars, P, Q, R, and S upstage each other, disconcert each other, all in the interest of presenting as much enlightenment as we can fit for within the pages of a single book, so they form a serious quartet with serious overtones, like the lovers and magus of Mozart's "Non ti fidar O misera." Don't trust him, O sad person!

River control and the evolution of knowledge: a comparison between regions in China and Europe, c. 1400–1850[1]

Karel Davids
Afdeling Geschiedenis, Faculteit der Letteren, Vrije Universiteit, De Boelelaan 1105, 1081 HV Amsterdam, The Netherlands
E-mail: caudavids@let.vu.nl

Abstract

This article examines the similarities and divergences in the evolution of knowledge concerning river control in China and Europe, between about 1400 and 1850. The analysis concentrates on four densely populated and relatively prosperous regions, which were faced with comparable problems caused by sturdy rivers: the coastal plains of the Yellow River the lands of the middle Yangzi, the coastal area of Northern Italy and the Rhine delta in the Netherlands. During the period under discussion Northern Italy was the first region to witness a cognitive leap in knowledge of river hydraulics. The author analyses why this particular transformation in the body of knowledge took place in Northern Italy rather than in any of the regions in China. He also examines why the Netherlands, in contrast to regions in China, offered a receptive environment to the new approach in river hydraulics from c. 1770. He suggests that differences in the development of knowledge can be explained primarily in terms of underlying socio-political structures.

Introduction

'Since European rivers presented few serious natural problems, European internal [in hydraulic works] when eventually it arose, centred mainly on transport canals'. Joseph Needham many years ago claimed in his monumental Science and civilisation in China[2]

1 An earlier version of this essay was presented at the Global Economic History Network Conference at the Netherlands Institute of Advanced Studies, Wassenaar, The Netherlands, September 2004. I am grateful to the participants of this conference and the referees of this journal for their very helpful comments and to Jaap Bakkum for drawing the maps.

2 Joseph Needham, with Wang Ling and Lu Gwei-djen, Science and civilisation in China, vol.4.III, Civil engineering and nautics, Cambridge, Cambridge University Press, 1971, p. 376. Needham was nevertheless aware of the emergence of what he calls 'post-Renaissance mathematical hydrodynamics': see footnote on p. 232.

Sophisticated Telecommunications Solution in a Flexible, Highly Scalable Package

The DX-120 Business Communications System is designed to give growing enterprises all the sophisticated communications features of big-company digital systems in an affordable, easy to use and highly scalable package. The DX-120 system includes desktop and cordless speakerphone endpoints, a reception console and a comprehensive feature set of nearly 200 functions previously available only on high-end PBXs. It supports both T1/ISDN PRI and analog trunking, conferencing, powerful voicemail and auto-attendant options and remote configuration.

EXPANDS AS YOUR BUSINESS GROWS

The DX-120 system delivers enterprise-grade productivity without the complexity, cost and management responsibilities of a larger system. Its modular architecture and both analog and digital trunking (T1 and ISDN-PRI) enable small enterprises to get started today with a full-size digital communications solution with the assurance that it can be expanded to grow in step with the business. Administration is fast and easy with the modem option, which enables remote access and configuration of system parameters. Growing your communications system to keep pace with the success of your organization has never been so easy – or so affordable.

SHARPEN YOUR COMPETITIVE EDGE

The basic DX-120 system delivers nearly 200 powerful communications features right out of the box, giving your organization a jump start on the competition. A sampling includes:

Built-in Caller ID: The caller's name and number are clearly displayed on both digital and Caller ID-capable analog telephone sets, providing caller ID information regardless of extension type.*

Direct Inward Dialing (DID): With T1 or ISDN PRI trunking, the DX-120 supports up to 100 DID numbers for direct caller access to personnel, greetings such as directions or hours, mailboxes, hotlines, departments and fax.

Uniform Call Distribution (UCD): Allows extensions to be linked for call handling, enabling efficient utilization of your customer service resources. Incoming calls can be forwarded to the next available agent or on a per-group basis (sales, tech support, etc.) using Linear Distributed or All Ring modes.

"Meet-Me" Conferencing: In addition to supporting standard conference calling, the DX-120 also supports eight "Meet Me" conference bridges. All parties can dial in and enjoy a conference call from the road or inside the office.

Tenant Service: By configuring tenant groups, one DX-120 system can be configured to serve multiple premises while meeting the specific custom tailoring requirements of each. Paired with its two Music-on-Hold sources, the DX-120 can serve multiple offices and meet the specific customization requirements of each.

Fax Detection: The DX-120 supports automatic fax detection with analog trunking, eliminating the expense of a separate fax line.

* Requires Caller ID service from your telephone service provider.

We now have 50% faster peak speeds in more than 450 cities, coast to coast. Welcome to the next gen network.

Coverage you can count on.
The bottom line is Verizon has the most reliable 4G LTE network in the U.S., and we're relentless about getting even better. So why settle for anything else?

Carry over data.
Keep the data you don't use for another month. And with the new My Verizon app, you can easily add a GB with a tap.

The #1 network.
Verizon is the most awarded network. Ever. And we've been America's #1 overall network* six times in a row.

*Rankings based on the RootMetrics® U.S. National RootScore® Reports: 1H 2013. Tested with best commercially available smartphones on four national mobile networks across all available network types. Your experiences may vary. The RootMetrics award is not an endorsement of Verizon. Visit www.rootmetrics.com for more details.

ECHA Xerox users,

Please check your Gmail SPAM folder if you did not receive your scanned to email document.

There were some scanned to emails marked as spam, resulting in scanned to emails being sent to multiple users' spam folders in Gmail.

IST has changed settings on the Xeroxes so the scanned to email messages will not seem as generic and bypassing any spam filters, but there may still be users still receiving the scans to email in their spam.

Please check your spam folders, find any scanned to email messages and mark them as Not Spam

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX: You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem, and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN: After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

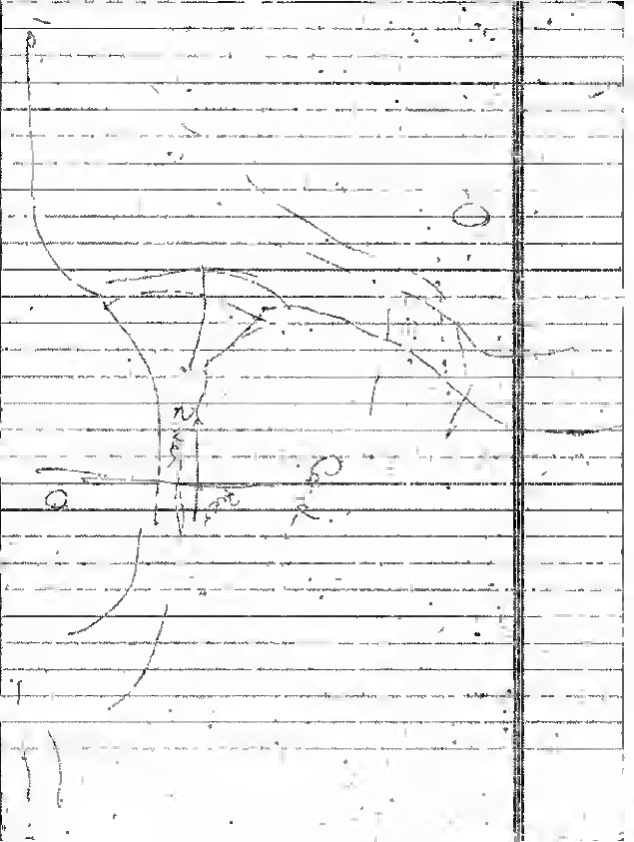
How long will I have to wait?
Did someone mention girl scout cookies?

APRIL 2010



Driving home from work just yesterday
Impatiently waiting for the light to change
I noticed an [illegible] stop kids
She reached out and lifted up a brush and hit
Her face at [illegible]
And pulled out a [illegible]
Knelt down and gave it to her smaller [illegible]
And God was should have said her smile

[Chorus]

It ain't pretty, but it's beautiful
[illegible]
We're all so flawed, but we're lovable
It ain't pretty, but it's beautiful

God bottle and told my outfit was what I'd wear
She grabbed her purse, took me by the hand and said screw with me
We drove around until we found the three of them
I wondered what we're learning even when they're in
We bought them food and clothes and drove them to a toy store,
And the little girl said "I don't need a brand new doll"
as she lit eyed the [illegible] clothes she easily found before she said "But one would mean one"

[Chorus]

She ain't pretty, but she's how title
She ain't perfect, but she's wonderful
She might be broken, but she's loveable
She ain't pretty, but she's beautiful

Last night my wife and [illegible] all the memories
A went how we [illegible] and fight [illegible]
Sa[illegible]ply things are so tangled
But we thank God we always find our way back to love

It ain't pretty, but it's beautiful
Our love is not perfect, but it's [illegible]
We're all learning to be lovable
It ain't pretty, but it's beautiful
We're all learning to be loveable
Ain't always pretty, but it's beautiful

TFTP

Trivial File Transfer Protocol, is a very simple file transfer protocol, with the functionality of a very basic form of FTP. It uses UDP (port 69) as its transport protocol.

UDP

User Datagram Protocol (UDP) is one of the core protocols of the Internet protocol suite. Using UDP, programs on networked computers can send short messages known as datagrams to one another. UDP does not provide the reliability and ordering guarantees that TCP does, datagrams may arrive out of order or go missing without notice. However, as a result, UDP is faster and more efficient for many lightweight or time-sensitive purposes.

VAD

Voice Activity Detection or Voice Activity Detector is an algorithm used in speech processing wherein, the presence or absence of human speech is detected from the audio samples.

VLAN

A virtual LAN, known as a VLAN, is a logically independent network. Several VLANs can co-exist on a single physical switch. It is usually refer to the IEEE 802.1Q tagging protocol.

The Rancher

A rancher needed to borrow enough money from the bank to get a bull to service his cows.

The banker who lent the money later stopped by to see how his investment was doing.

"That bull won't even look at my cows. All he does is eat!" the rancher complained.

The banker suggested, "I've got a veterinarian friend. I'll send him out to check him out. Maybe he's got some pills or something."

The next week, the banker returned. "Did that vet help?" he asked.

The pleased farmer replied, "Sure did! That bull has serviced every one of my cows, broke through the fence, and then serviced every one of my neighbor's cows!"

"Wow," said the banker, "what kind of pills did he give him?"

"Don't know," said the farmer, "but they're kinda pepperminty!"

Differential Backup

A differential backup, as the first one already backed up all selected files and folders, and a backup could be performed on the second night as well. However, this backup would contain the same files that were backed up during the first backup. If a media is empty or a new media is used, the backup will start with a new full backup. If the media already has a backup, then only the files that have been changed since the last backup will be backed up. A differential backup will not delete files that were deleted since the last backup. Instead, it will only mark the files as deleted.

A differential backup is faster than a full backup, but slower than an incremental backup.

Each backup job will create a file on the destination media or folder in order to keep track of the backup. This file will be named "backup.bkf" and will be added to each backup. When the media is reused, a number appended to the filename, this number will be incremented by one for each new backup, and a new .BKF file will be created.

Example:

Backup Job 1 - Full Backup

Backup Job 2 - Incremental Backup

Backup Job 3 - Full Backup

Backup Job 4 - Incremental Backup

Differential backup is called "differential" because it "differentiates" between files that have been modified since the last full backup.

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

More recently, the Annals has become a preeminent journal of scholarly writing by professional historians on computing history. The Annals encourages submissions from both computing practitioners and computing historians.

In late 2011 the Computer Society Press published a history book from the Annals: The IBM Century: Creating the IT Revolution edited by Jeffrey R. Yost. This book reprinted a careful selection of articles on IBM from the Annals. The articles are augmented by an insightful introduction and overview timeline and annotated bibliography of IBM history all by editor Yost. The 282 page book is available from Amazon.com and other retail bookstores (I have reviewed the book at Amazon).

Computing Thro In recent years the "Computing Then" department (www.computer.org/portal/web/computingthen) of the Society's "Computing Now" Web site (www.computer.org/portal/web/computingnow) has highlighted and posted online historical content from the Annals and elsewhere.

Computer Society History Committee Since 1990 the Society has also maintained a Society History Committee. Members of the History Committee work on various projects relating to Society history and to computing history more generally. A recent example of the latter is a project commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's (MIT's) Compatible Time-Sharing System (CTSS) important for reasons explained below. The full document is freely available as item five at www.computer.org/portal/web/awardscenter/history.

CTSS Time-sharing was in the air around MIT and Cambridge in the years circa 1961. MIT faculty, staff and students who had worked directly with the Whirlwind or TX-0 computers strung at their consoles wanted more of that interactive access—the then-traditional computer system batch processing approach was very slow for program debugging and was made worse by machine overloading as digital computing was becoming more popular.

In the spring of 1961 Prof. Fernando Corbató, then associate director of MIT's Computation Center, began to design a system he called the "Compatible Time-Sharing System" for MIT's IBM 709 computer. Corbató initially worked with two of his Computation Center staff members, Robert Daley and Marjorie Merwin. They arranged for IBM to provide an interrupt capability for the machine that allowed them to take control of it. They created a special version of the operating system that set aside 5 kilowords of memory (of 32 kilowords total) for the time-sharing supervisor (and for buffering typewriter terminal input and output). Tape drives were used to store the programs and files of the users of the four terminals. It was crude but that original configuration allowed a November 1961 demonstration of interactive computer use. (The traditional batch processing system still operated in parallel with the time-sharing system—that was the compatible part of CTSS.) This 2011 was the 50th anniversary of the conception and initial demonstration of CTSS.

By 1965, CTSS was a stable, large-scale system, operating with a large disk drive for file storage, more memory for a refined time-sharing supervisor and a controller that handled a significant number of local and remote terminals. That summer CTSS supported experimentation with time-shared computing by a stream of notable visiting computing pioneers. CTSS was proof positive of the feasibility of time-sharing.

The Corbató-led substantive, solid early implementation of time sharing in CTSS at MIT was an important stimulus for the era in computing that can make to this day—the era where users themselves have direct contact with a computer (calling the computer what they want it to do from moment to moment.

Call for Grant Applications

The IEEE Life Members Committee (LMC) is responsible for the administration of the Life Members Fund (LMF) in coordination with the IEEE Foundation. The LMF supports the award or of grants to projects of interest to Life Members (LMs) potential engineers, and engineering students.

Along with the IEEE Foundation the LMC accepts grant applications for new and innovative projects two times per year. The next 2012 grant application deadline is 26 July 2012 at 11:59 pm, EST.

To be considered for grant funding by the LMC a project should have a clearly defined objective, and provide support in the following areas:

- applying technology for humanitarian efforts
- engineering education and workforce development
- the history of technology

If you feel that your unit (Section or Chapter) has a project that fulfills the criteria identified above, you are welcome to apply through the IEEE Foundation Web page (www.ieee.org/organizations/foundation/grants.html). Before submitting an application please review the IEEE Foundation's grant guidelines. Information regarding grant applications can be found at www.ieeefoundation.org.

2017 Ohio Schedule IT BUS Instructions

Ohio Schedule IT BUS is solely for use in determining taxable business income and business income tax liability for purposes of completing the Ohio IT 1040 individual income tax return. See Ohio Revised Code section (R.C.) 5747.01(A)(3)1 5747.01(B) and 5747.01(HH)

This schedule and instructions apply to all individual taxpayers who have business income. This schedule is used for reporting all business income that is reported on IRS schedules B, C, D, E and F as well as any other items of business income and gain separately stated on the federal Schedule K-1 and the federal 4797, and miscellaneous federal income tax adjustments, if any.

Enter on this schedule the combined business income amounts from all sources. List the separate business entities on Part 4 on the back of the schedule.

Submit the IT BUS with the paper-filed Ohio IT 1040. If you are filing electronically, the IT BUS will be included in your software package.

This schedule is only used for individual taxpayers filing the Ohio IT 1040. Pass-through entities and trusts should not use this schedule.

Definitions

Business Income and Nonbusiness Income

"Business income" means income, including gain or loss, arising from transactions, activities and sources in the regular course of a trade or business and includes income from real tangible and intangible property if the acquisition, rental management and disposition of the property constitute integral parts of the regular course of a trade or business operation (R.C. 5747.01(B)).

Business income can be determined by using either two tests:

Transactional Test: Looks to the nature, frequency and regularity of the transaction.

Functional Test: Was the property an integral part of the business? Did the property contribute to business income in the past?

See Kemppel v. Zaino, 91 Ohio St.3d 420 (2001).

Also, "business income" consists of income, including gain or loss, from a partial or complete liquidation of a business, including but not limited to, gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of goodwill.

In general, income, exemptions, gains and losses recognized by a sole proprietorship or a pass-through entity are items of business income.

"Nonbusiness income" means all income other than business income and may include, but is not limited to, compensation, rents and royalties from real or tangible personal property, capital gains, interest, dividends, distributions, patent or copyright royalties, and lottery winnings, prizes and losses (R.C. 5747.01(C)). Nonbusiness income should be excluded from the figures reported on this schedule.

Business Income From IRS Schedules (Part 1)

Important. Include on all lines only those items of business income that are included in the calculation of federal adjusted gross income. For example, losses that must be carried forward to future years due to federal rules should not be included on this schedule for the current year. A taxpayer cannot simply list the amounts on these federal schedules on Ohio IT BUS.

Line 1 – Schedule B, Interest and Ordinary Dividends
Enter on this line only taxable interest and ordinary dividends reported on the federal Schedule B that qualify as business income. Generally, interest and dividend income can only qualify as business income if it is generated from the regular course of trade or business (i.e., the primary business purpose is stated high) or if it is generated from working capital and reinvested into the business.

Example: John reports $1,500 of interest income on his federal Schedule B. $200 of this interest is reported to him on the Ohio K-1 from a pass-through entity in which he has an ownership interest. This entity's primary business purpose is generating income through investments. The remainder of John's interest income is from personal, nonbusiness sources. John may only report $200 on the Ohio IT BUS line 1.

Line 2 – Schedule C, Profit or Loss from Business
Enter on this line the amount on your federal 1040, line 12. If the amount entered is negative, place a "-" in the box provided.

Example. Sam is a sole proprietorship that reports a net loss of -$15,000 on federal Schedule C. Sam's wife Suzy is a sole proprietorship that reports a net profit of $10,000 on federal Schedule C. The net Schedule C income reported on Sam and Suzy's federal 1040 line 12 is -$5,000. Sam and Suzy must report -$5,000 on the Ohio IT BUS line 2.

Line 3 – Schedule D, Capital Gain or Loss
Enter on this line only capital gains or losses reported on the federal Schedule D that qualify as business income. Gains or losses reported on this line must be those and are generated in the ordinary course of business, from assets integral to the taxpayer's business operation or from working capital and reinvested into the business. Gains or losses from a partial or complete liquidation of a business, including, but not limited to, gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of goodwill should also be included on this line. If the amount entered is negative, place a "-" in the box provided.

Example. A lessee sells a tractor used in his same farming operation then generates a capital gain. The tractor cannot be harvested without the use of the tractor. Since the tractor was integral in the taxpayer's business operations the capital gain can be reported on this line.

Example: Paul reports $8,000 of capital gain income on his federal Schedule D. $2,000 of this income is reported to him on the Ohio K-1 from a pass-through entity in which he has an ownership interest. This entity's primary business purpose is generating income through investments. The entity reports capital gains when selling its interest in an investment. The remainder of John's capital gain income is from personal, nonbusiness sources. John may only report $2,000 on the Ohio IT BUS, line 3.

Line 4 – Schedule E, Supplemental Income and Loss
Enter on this line your net business income or loss reported on the federal Schedule E.

If your net amount from the federal Schedule E includes guaranteed payments from a pass-through entity in which you have less than a 20% direct or indirect ownership interest, these payments must be deducted from the amount entered on this line.

Jabberwocky
BY LEWIS CARROLL

Twas brillig and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe
All mimsy were the borogoves,
And the mome raths outgrabe

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!
The jaws that bite the claws that catch!
Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun
The frumious Bandersnatch!"

He took his vorpal sword in hand
Long time the manxome foe he sought—
So rested he by the Tumtum tree
And stood awhile in thought.

And, as in uffish thought he stood
The Jabberwock, with eyes of flame
Came whiffling through the tulgey wood,
And burbled as it came!

One, two! One, two! And through and through
The vorpal blade went snicker-snack!
He left it dead, and with its head
He went galumphing back

"And hast thou slain the Jabberwock?
Come to my arms my beamish boy!
O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!"
He chortled in his joy

Twas brillig, and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe
All mimsy were the borogoves,
And the mome raths outgrabe.

the arguments to `cbind()` must be either vectors of any length or matrices with the same column size, that is the same number of rows. The result is a matrix with the concatenated arguments arg_1 arg_2 ... forming the columns.

If some of the arguments to `cbind()` are vectors they may be shorter than the column size of any matrices present, in which case they are cyclically extended to match the matrix column size (or the length of the longest vector if all matrices are given).

The function `rbind()` does the corresponding operation for rows. In this case any vector argument, possibly cyclically extended, is of course taken as row vectors.

Suppose `X1` and `X2` have the same number of rows. To combine these by columns into a matrix `X` together with an initial column of 1s we can use

> X <- cbind(1, X1, X2)

The result of `rbind()` or `cbind()` always has matrix status. Hence `cbind(x)` and `rbind(x)` are possibly the simplest ways explicitly to allow the vector `x` to be treated as a column or row matrix respectively.

5.9 The concatenation function, c(), with arrays

It should be noted that whereas `cbind()` and `rbind()` are concatenation functions that respect `dim` attributes, the basic `c()` function does not, but rather clears a mimic objects of all dim and dimnames attributes. This is occasionally useful in its own right.

The official way to coerce an array back to a simple vector object is to use `as.vector()`.

> vec <- as.vector(X)

However a similar result can be achieved by using `c()` with just one argument, simply for this side-effect.

> vec <- c(X)

There are slight differences between the two, but ultimately the choice between them is largely a matter of style (with the former being preferable).

5.10 Frequency tables from factors

Recall that a factor defines a partition into groups. Similarly a pair of factors defines a two way cross classification, and so on. The function `table()` allows frequency tables to be calculated from equal length factors. If there are k factor arguments the result is a k-way array of frequencies.

Suppose, for example, that `statef` is a factor giving the state code for each entry in a data version. The assignment

> statefr <- table(statef)

gives in `statefr` a table of frequencies of each state in the sample. The frequencies are ordered and labelled by the `levels` attribute of the factor. This simple case is equivalent to, but more convenient than

> statefr <- tapply(statef, statef, length)

Further suppose that `incomef` is a factor giving a suitably defined "income class" for each entry in the data vector, for example with the `cut()` function.

Electronic Ticketing Reissue - Exchange with Additional Collection (Canada)

An exchange is uneven when there is additional money that needs to be collected from, or returned to, the passenger. Some examples of an uneven exchange would be a schedule or routing change, or simply a returned ticket that results in a change to the fare and/or taxes.

Use the following process to issue a ticket when there are changes to the fare or taxes.

In this scenario, the customer needed to change the outbound flight date. The new flight is a connecting flight. We will use this information during the scenario.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it out to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine point your web browser to FaxZero. (the site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Handset Cord

Quick Start Guide

Ethernet Cable (Cat5e/CAT6E UTP Cable)

Power Adapter (Optional)

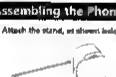
Stand

Wall Mount Bracket (Optional)

Note: We recommend that you use the accessories provided or approved by Yealink. The use of unapproved third-party accessories may affect the phone performance.

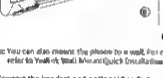
Assembling the Phone

1. Attach the stand, as shown below:



Note: You can also mount the phone to a wall. For more information on how to attach the wall mount bracket, refer to Yealink Wall Mount Quick Installation Guide for Yealink IP Phones.

2. Connect the handset and optional headset, as shown below:



Wireless Headset adapter EHS36

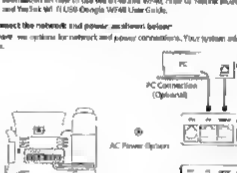
Note: The standard or wireless headset adapter EHS36 should be purchased separately.
The EXT port can also be used to connect the expansion module EXP20. For more information on how to use the EHS36 and EXP20, refer to Yealink EHS36 User Guide, Yealink EXP20 User Guide.

3. Connect the USB flash drive, as shown below:

Note: The USB port can also be used to connect the Bluetooth USB dongle BT40 or Wi-Fi USB dongle. Bluetooth USB dongle BT40 and Wi-Fi USB dongle WF40 should be purchased separately. For more information on how to use the BT40 and WF40, refer to Yealink Bluetooth USB Dongle BT40 User Guide and Yealink Wi-Fi USB Dongle WF40 User Guide.

4. Connect the network and power, as shown below:

You have two options for network and power connections. Your system administrator will advise you on this.



Note: The IP phones shown here used with Yealink original power adapter (5V/2A) only. The use of the other power adapter may cause the damage to the phone. If you are connecting a PC to your phone, we recommend that you use the Ethernet cable provided by Yealink.
If inline power (PoE) is provided, you don't need to connect the power adapter. Make sure the network is PoE compliant.

Startup

After the IP phone is connected to the network and supplied with power, it automatically begins the initialization process. After startup, the phone is ready for use. You can configure the phone via phone user interface or web user interface.

HEPATITIS B VACCINE

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Many Vaccine Information Statements are available in Spanish and other languages. See www.immunize.org/vis

1 What is hepatitis B?

Hepatitis B is a serious disease that affects the liver. It is caused by the hepatitis B virus (HBV). HBV can cause

Acute (short-term) illness. This can lead to
- loss of appetite
- diarrhea and vomiting
- tiredness
- jaundice (yellow skin or eyes)
- pain in muscles, joints, and stomach

Acute illness is more common among adults. Children who become infected usually do not have acute illness.

Chronic (long-term) infection. Some people go on to develop chronic HBV infection. This can be very serious, and often leads to
- liver damage (cirrhosis)
- liver cancer
- death

Chronic infection is more common among infants and children than among adults. People who are infected can spread HBV to others, even if they don't appear sick.

- In 2005, about 51,000 people became infected with hepatitis B.
- About 1.25 million people in the United States have chronic HBV infection.
- Each year about 3,000 to 5,000 people die from cirrhosis or liver cancer caused by HBV.

Hepatitis B virus is spread through contact with the blood or other body fluids of an infected person. A person can become infected by:
- contact with a mother's blood and body fluids at the time of birth;
- contact with blood and body fluids through breaks in the skin such as bites, cuts, or sores;
- contact with objects that could have blood or body fluids on them such as toothbrushes or razors;
- having unprotected sex with an infected person;
- sharing needles when injecting drugs;
- being stuck with a used needle on the job.

2 Hepatitis B vaccine: Why get vaccinated?

Hepatitis B vaccine can prevent hepatitis B, and the serious consequences of HBV infection, including liver cancer and cirrhosis.

Routine hepatitis B vaccination of U.S. children began in 1991. Since then, the reported incidence of acute hepatitis B among children and adolescents has dropped by more than 95% – and by 75% in all age groups.

Hepatitis B vaccine is made from a part of the hepatitis B virus. It cannot cause HBV infection.

Hepatitis B vaccine is usually given as a series of 3 or 4 shots. This vaccine series gives long term protection from HBV infection, possibly lifelong.

3 Who should get hepatitis B vaccine and when?

Children and Adolescents

- All children should get their first dose of hepatitis B vaccine at birth and should have completed the vaccine series by 6-18 months of age.
- Children and adolescents through 18 years of age who did not get the vaccine when they were younger should also be vaccinated.

Adults

- All unvaccinated adults at risk for HBV infection should be vaccinated. This includes
  - sex partners of people infected with HBV,
  - men who have sex with men,
  - people who inject street drugs,
  - people with more than one sex partner,
  - people with chronic liver or kidney disease,
  - people with jobs that expose them to human blood,
  - household contacts of people infected with HBV,
  - residents and staff in institutions for the developmentally disabled,
  - kidney dialysis patients,

Que me devuelvan mi país
Escrito por: JUAN TAVERAS HERNANDEZ

No se puede vivir en un país donde un ciudadano, si quiere tener energía eléctrica tiene que comprar planta o inversor; si quiere seguridad debe contratar a un guardián; si quiere buena educación para sus hijos tiene que inscribirlos en un colegio o en una universidad privada; si quiere agua potable tiene que comprar botellones, si debe transportarse debe comprar su propio vehículo; no debe salir de su casa; debe colocar rejas en todas las puertas y ventanas, y si quiere trabajar en el Estado tiene que ser corrupto, miembro del partido de gobierno, traidor o tránsfuga.

He dicho –y quiero repetirlo- que con 20 años de edad menos me habría ido del país, con visa o sin visa, en avión o en yola, porque "esta vaina se jodió".

El pesimismo me asalta y me hace preso del miedo a ver mis hijos y mis nietos en un país sin valores éticos y morales, sin fe ni esperanza. Vivimos como en un círculo vicioso, dando vueltas y más vueltas para terminar siempre en el mismo lugar, es decir, en el fango de la pobreza espiritual, en una cloaca social donde todo hiede

Los muchachos y las muchachas no pueden salir a las calles sin correr el riesgo de ser asaltados, atracados, violados o asesinados por ladrones o por policías.

No se puede vivir en un país convertido en una lavandería del narcotráfico y el crimen como lo confirman las declaraciones del jefe de la política monetaria que habla de unos 800 millones de dólares rodando por las calles sin explicación financiera ni fiscal, es decir, dinero sucio que sirve para mantener la macroeconomía estable y la tasa del dólar en el nivel deseado. No se puede vivir en un país donde las drogas se venden en las calles con más facilidad que el arroz blanco.

No se puede vivir en un país donde aterrizan más de 300 aviones cargados de drogas todos los años, según dijo uno de los muchos asesores del Presidente de la República.

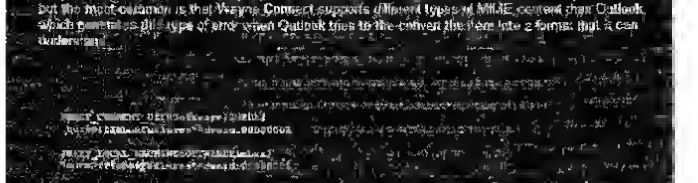
How to turn off "Local Failure Notices"

Unless the below registry setting (to noOlkInboxFailures) is set to "1", your customers probably will receive "Local Failure Notices" in their Inbox occasionally. These notices are generated by ZCO, and not the Wayne Connect servers. They are simply notifications to the user that some aspects of data in Wayne Connect could not be properly converted into Outlook format. This can be for many reasons but the most common is that Wayne Connect supports different types of MIME content than Outlook, which sometimes gets type of error when Outlook tries to the convert the item into a format that it can understand.



These local failure notices can be annoying to users to receive unless they are technically inclined to and want to understand what happened. The above registry setting will disable these notices from going to the user's Inbox and puts them in a local folder instead.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero.com. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.
